There are some issues in the code .Here is the bugs I found and solutions to them.

1.The original code was missing the GET method in home route .which prevent the home page from being displayed .this was fixed by adding get method to methods in home route

2.In the index ()function ,the "note" variable is being retrieved using the 'request.args.get()' methos.Instead we should use "request.form.get()" method to retrieve the value of the "note" input field from the data.

3.The note variable is declared as a global variable ,that means all the users will get tha same not ewho are accessing that page.To overcome this issue instead of declaring note as a global variable ,try to store notes in cookie.
